Programme for UK Delegation to the Billington CyberSecurity Summit

September 5th 2018
Washington, DC

For UK companies attending or exhibiting at the 9th Annual Billington CyberSecurity Summit, the Department for International Trade (DIT) is delighted to offer an additional day of networking and information sessions with key US cyber security stakeholders.

This day-long programme will take place on Wednesday 5th September at the British Embassy in Washington, DC, and is expected to include opportunities for UK cyber companies to learn about and engage with:

- Dreamport, a new initiative of US Cyber Command's Office of Corporate Partnerships and Technology Outreach, whose mission is to help find innovative solutions for USCYBERCOM.
- The DHS Silicon Valley Innovation Program, which offers successful cyber innovators up to $800K in funding support to develop new capabilities to strengthen US national security.
- Tech investors from the DC region, which ranks 6th in the US top 10 for VC funding with $1.6bn of new investment in 2017.
- The US Department of Defense and the Automation Federation to discuss public-private collaboration initiatives addressing industrial control system and critical national infrastructure cyber security.
- An insight session on strategic selling in the US public and private sectors by leading US company Axon Cyber.

There is a fee of £275 payable to DIT for participation in this programme.

Companies are invited to express their interest to Matt Malarkey (matt.malarkey@mobile.trade.gov.uk).
